

CMA Enables Trading with SLW Corretora de Valores e Cambio for BVMF Exchange Trading

June 29th – New York (USA) and São Paulo (Brazil) – BVMF order management and market data systems provider CMA, announced today the Southbound order flow capabilities with BVMF exchange member SLW Corretora de Valores e Cambio, a leading independent brokerage firm based in São Paulo.

Today's announcement by SLW and CMA further demonstrate CMA's commitment to bringing the northern international community together with the explosive trading volumes that Latin America are experiencing. Through the CMA Trading Solutions initiative, firms in the US, Europe and/or Asia can trade on LatAm exchanges with brokers specialized in those markets.

"Market messages for remote access, DMA and more recently algorithmic trades can be sent into the CMA Trade Hub platform and right onto a CMA OMS of one of the Bovespa equity brokers who can work the orders into the market on behalf of the non member, or buy-side," states Mr. Romualdo Salata, General Director of CMA. "All of the CMA systems in software and network are geared to work seamlessly with each other for the purpose of globally routing messages such as market information or order execution," Mr. Salata concludes.

Bovespa market orders entered on the exchange can only be done by a member firm. SLW Corretora de Valores e Cambio, one of the exchange's premier member firms, process orders using their CMA order management system (OMS), CMA Series 4 application and FIX connectivity.

"CMA and SLW have been strategic partners in Bovespa trading since the first electronic trading platforms entered the Brazilian market and now have expanded together offering a structured brokerage service to serve North American and European customers," said Mr. Daniel Hannun Manager at SLW. "Through the CMA Trade Hub, SLW provides customers with a trading platform for high frequency and low latency execution, with the quality that the international market demands." Mr. Hannun added.

International trading of Brazilian products such as the Ibovespa index continues to be of more and more interest with multi-asset, and regional trading strategies from North American and European global futures and options investors. In order for these remote trading strategies to best find value is through the electronification process achieving Straight-Through-Processing (STP). Through a message intelligent network such as the CMA Trade Hub, Northern investment firms can send and receive order to a CMA OMS client such as SLW Corretora de Valores e Cambio.
